BWBC BLITZES THE FIELD.

On Saturday 6th August a group of BWBC members made up a table at the Blackwood Hall Quiz Night. After some social chit-chat, accompanied by drinks and nibbles, it was heads down as the quiz began and the questions came thick and fast. Answers were whispered around the table so that Bob, our scribe, could record the answers without our opponents on nearby tables over-hearing them.

To alleviate the overall gravity of the situation, other activities were introduced, such as sliding coins towards a bottle, with the nearest being the winner. Our table didn't make the cut on that one. Then there was the raffle; and various items began to adorn our table as winners emerged from our midst. There was a floral arrangement, a pretty blue and white china tea pot and other assorted goodies.

Then it was back to the main task at hand. Several trips to the tally board were undertaken by our team members to suss out our progress. It was felt we were travelling quite well. It was after all the raffle prizes had been claimed that a certain feeling of uneasiness came upon our table. Where were the limited edition bottles of Barrossa (no, that's not a typo) Valley Shiraz which had been donated by BWBC, to be used as prizes? It was assumed that someone had forgotten to include them. After an evening of brain drain and fun, the climax of the evening was the presentation of prizes to the winning table. And what a proud moment for those on the BWBC table, as we walked to the front to collect our trophy : large individual bags of assorted prizes. There were golf balls, CDs , picture frames, garden fertiliser, note pads etc. but consensus was, that of all the goodies in our bags, our favourite was the bottle of BWBC Barossa Valley Shiraz 2007 !

We will have to defend our title next year so start limbering up the neurons!

(Where does the Heysen Trail start and finish and how long is it?)
